BULB FARMS IN AMERICA, HOLLAND AND FRANCE

Rynveld's

THE following list comprises all the leading market varieties as well as many rarer varieties and novelties that will in turn become Florists' varieties when quantities increase. Meanwhile progressive florists should try out some of these, all of which carry our highest recommendation.

Practically all are grown on our own farms in Long Island where soil and climate offer ideal conditions for growing and harvesting. All are carefully graded in sizes as offered and we take considerable pains in keeping our stocks healthy and true to name. We invite inspection at our nurseries or will be glad to send sample flowers of the newer and rarer varieties during the flowering season.

`HESE are valuable bulbs for florists to force for early spring bloom. The varieties offer a wide selection of color and are an exceptionally profitable "catch crop" for benching as the early and midseason 'Mums mature. Our bulbs will be ready for delivery about September.

Since Horticultural embargo went into effect they have been almost unprocurable, but we have been carefully working up a stock in California that is equal in every way to the grades formerly imported.

Spiraeas

BEFORE the embargo we were the largest importers of this popular Florists' item, and as soon as the country was closed, began experiments immediately to determine if suitable florists' forcing stock could be produced here. We found that the soil we now use on Long Island grows these roots to perfection and that florists could force them even better than the imported stock.

We are sold up on crop of 1922 but are now booking for next November shipment.

Rynveld's Peonias

OR many years we have devoted much time and considerable acreage to the cutivation of Peonias, and our extensive trials being carefully recorded, we are enabled to recommend the following list of exceptionally fine varieties, selected for their large size, perfume, long stems, upright habit and succession of bloom.

Florists are yearly devoting more room to this valuable outdoor flower, which requires very little care, and a liberal planting in a few years becomes a valuable "cut and come again" source of supply, bringing unusually big returns, particularly around Memorial Day. Considering the quality of our stock and the high standard of the varieties our prices will be found extremely low, so low in fact that many of them cost no more than the old fashioned obsolete varieties usually offered to the trade.

Fall River. Mass.

Dear Sirs

On Saturday of last week, I received the Paper Whites you so kindly sent me. This is the second time I have received stock from you and to say I am pleased is placing it mildly, as I say without flattery it is the best I have ever received from anyone. Will also say that your prices are very moderate. Yours very truly.

LARGE TRUMPET DAFFODIL

Dutch Bulbs

FOR years we have been favorably known as one of the leading houses growing and shipping bulbs of a superior quality for the American market. Our farms of over one hundred acres are situated in those parts of Holland where the finest Hyacinths, Daffodils and Tulips are produced, in addition to which we are in direct touch with all the largest growers, who specialize in certain varieties alone. These conditions enable us to at all times supply the needs of the most particular buyers, and with no middleman intervening, our customers receive the advantage of the direct "grower to consumer" price. Please bear in mind that we grow bulbs primarily fro the American florists' trade, which at all times receives the cream of our stock.

Our special price list will be published around April. Meanwhile we will solicit your orders on an open price basis with the understanding that our prices when finally named will not be higher than those of other reliable houses.

IUDGING from our LARGE TRUMPET DAFFOOIL mendous sales in French bulbs, last fall, it would appear that "Rynveld quality and prices" combined with earliest deliveries are creating more and more satisfied customers among the great market growers and dealers in this country. In PAPER WIIITES alone this year we handled more than a quarter of the entire French crop. Most of our French bulbs are produced on our own farms at Ollioules, and during the harvesting season and active buying period we have at least two representatives, closely watching the market, eager to take advantage of every favorable turn of events that will benefit our customers.

We shall be glad to book orders now at open prices for your requirements from the following list and will quote prices we propose to charge you just as soon as these are fixed.
